With the beginning of school came the excitement of a new beginning. Students had the opportunity to get involved, do their own thing, and have fun.

"Crowding" is a ping pong tactic of Vilosio Garcia.

With the addition of bumper pool, Jimmy Britton keeps busy studying angles and curves.

Billy Dominguez and Frankie Porras find foosball takes as much concentration as class!

And tonight's defensive line up is . . .

"If he looks over again . . ." Debra Myers tells Trina Bates.

"Looks like a tie," Loretta Collier tells Richard Bumgarner.

Chris Burrows "fancies up" his pool game.

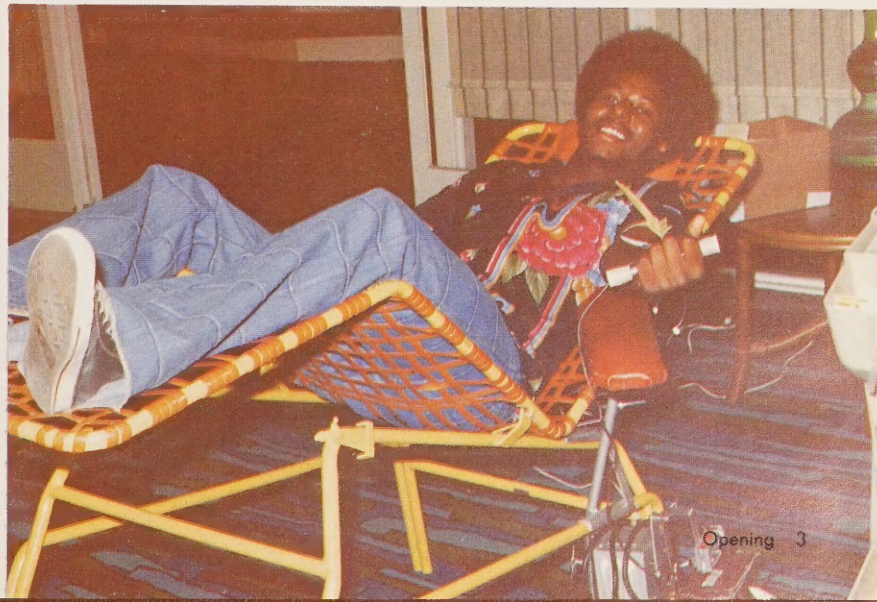

When you have the ball it's amazing how many people will follow where you lead.

Clowns are easily found when Nat Hart, Jill Walker, Bruce Campbell, Belynda Blake and Denise Crenwelge are around.

Emzie Woodard donates his bionic blood.

With each new happening comes the experience of a new phase in our lives. Life is a learning process and everyone has the chance to mold it their own way.

"Woah!" Kym Peterson tells Wendy Waters.

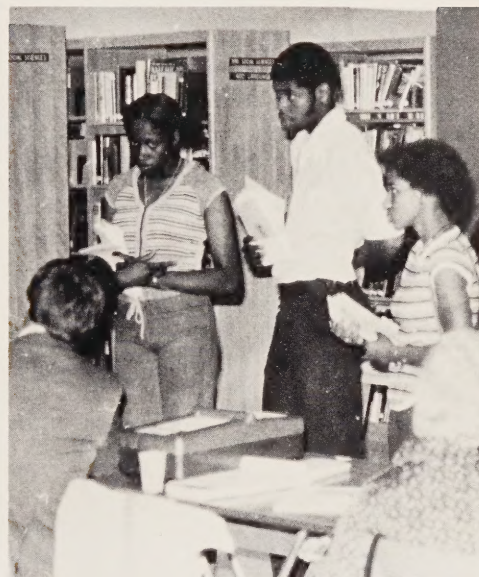

"Oh yuck!" exclaims
Debbie Self.

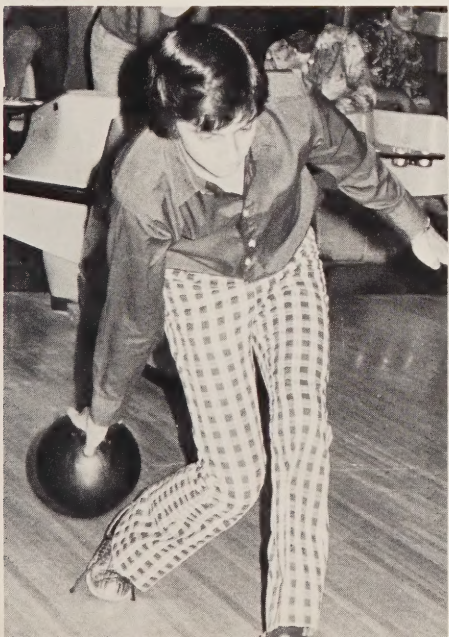

Gage Mims works diligently on his straight lines.

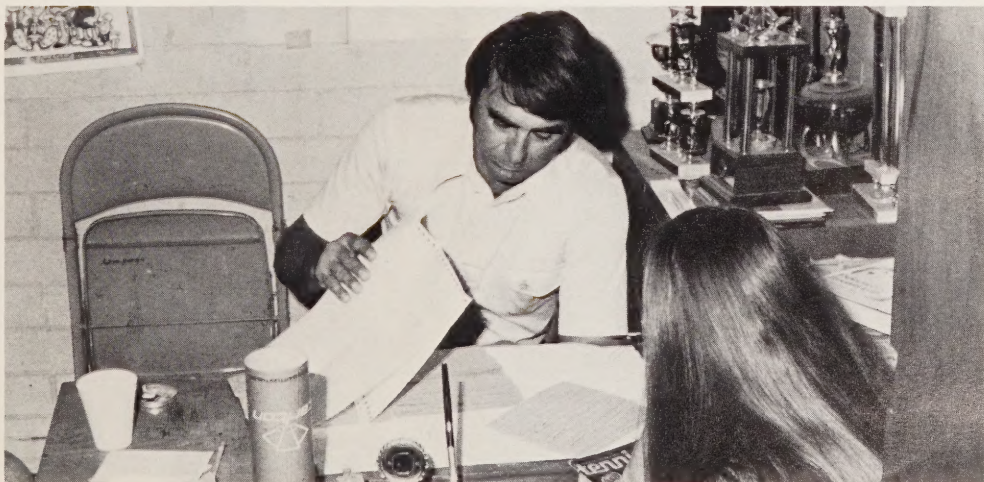

Registration is so exciting!

"This time I'll let go," sighs Robin
Hallman.

"Gee Babe, I'm all tied up Friday," Coach Dudley tells an admirer.

"That's my favorite pose." Sandy Booth tells Cindy Fowler and Jeri Booth.

Friends are some of the most important people in everyone's life. They help add to the good and bad times and are there in all facets of living.

"The gum doesn't come out," laughs Belynda Blake.

Catching up on the latest is a pleasant activity for Debbie Alarcon and Marla Garza.

Sunshine on Letha Strickland, Paula Kerbie and Beverly Strickland's shoulders.

"My that's cute," comments Jan Forsythe.

"What do you mean I'm not good looking?" James Baldrige asks Jill Walker.

Looking good is Mike Rorick.

Please don't play that song again George Garcia.

Sink it, Ricky Lewis!

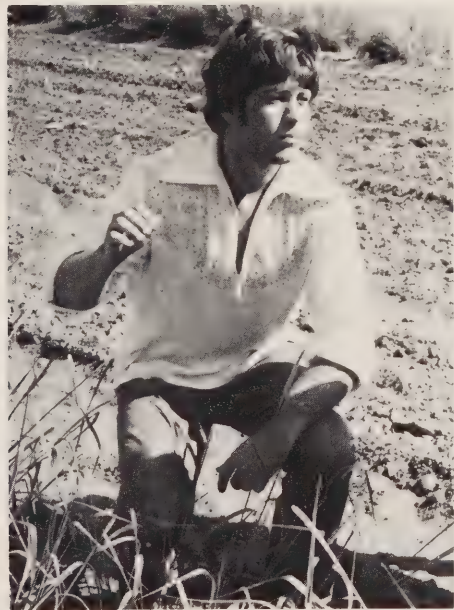

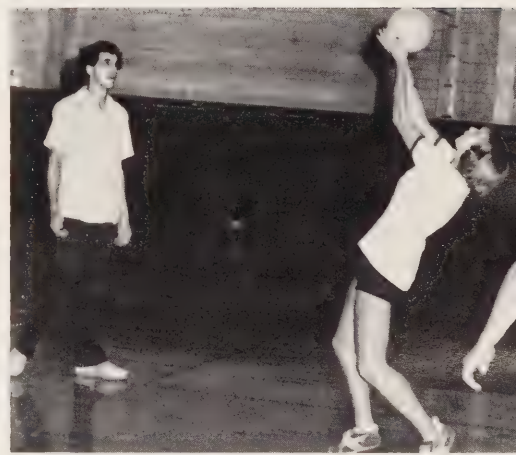

Jan Phillips prepares for basketball practice.

The Thrills of Being on Your Own

One of the big excitements about graduating from high school is the idea of leaving home to go off to college. That includes the late nights, dates, parties and good times. Don't forget the room checks, roommates and studying. Oh, the thrill of it all.

Sherrie Coalsen and Sharla Jameson sit and enjoy a moment of relaxation.

Kitta Weinkauf, girls' dorm president, catches up on her biology notes.

Sandra Zinke and Letha Strickland "Stuff their faces."

"Food" sighs Sissy Jones.

Bruce Campbell enjoys playing his stereo full blast especially when Mark Root is trying to study!

Emma Campos watches closely to make sure her lettuce doesn't jump!

Gienese Tuima is always adding new keepsakes to her bulletin board.

"Boy is this love note boring," moans Kathy Keune.

Annual Halloween Carnival Brings

October 27 was the date of the annual Halloween Carnival. Clubs sponsored booths ranging from cakes and goodies, to games of skill. Those who attended enjoyed themselves and some even left with prizes.

Sandy Ryerson was one of the spooks. Ricky Watkins pitches another dime at the Spanish Club dime toss while Joann Sawyer looks on.

Rusty Mitchell and Karen Hoyt engage in a "chilling time" as balloons are thrown at them in the drama club booth.

Out More Than Goblins

Lisa Almond and Jeri Booth got caught without their "makeup."

Jeff Courrington and Carla Chrane strike a cute pose for the photographer.

Rose Garcia helps Robby Randolph learn to eat.

Diana Garcia shouts wait! Let me straighten my hair!

Cathy Valdes
Miss HC

The Tenth Annual Miss Howard College Pageant had twenty-four girls compete for the title Tuesday, November 1, in the auditorium. In front of a capacity crowd, the contestants modeled campus wear, swimsuits, and formals. Along with the excitement of it all, there were such things as nervous stomachs, shaky legs, quivering lips, and the uncertainty of who the winner would be. After two hours of festivities, the girls assembled on the risers to await the outcome of the judges' decisions.

Cathy Valdes won queen with her court consisting of Kathy Keune, First Runner-Up; Lisa Almond, Second Runner-Up; and Denise Crenwelge, Miss Congeniality.

Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, fashion moderator, looks on as Mary Lou Saldivar and Phyllis Hart show the latest styles in the campus fashion presentation.

Maria Garza turned to smile at the audience as she promenaded with stiff competition in the swimsuit division.

K'Lynn Boyer looked stunning in her formal of black velveteen accented with white lace. She was one of twenty-four coeds who competed in the pageant.

Cathy Valdes enjoyed this kiss by Dr. Charles Hayes as she was crowned Miss Howard College.

Let Me Entertain You

Robin was one group that got a good response and audience.

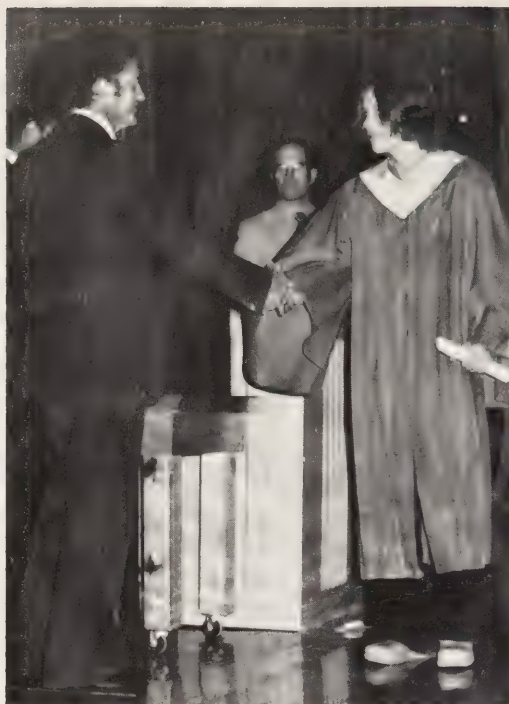

During some of the activity periods at the college, concerts of various forms were offered for student viewing. They were always free and gave students something to do with their time. The music varied from soft rock, blue grass, hard rock, and country and western.

Doak Sneed performed a number of selections he had written himself. He played mostly folk music. Kurt Van Sickle played in October in the cafeteria.

The first Commencement exercise for GED students took place October 25 in the college auditorium. Thirty-five graduates participated. Dr. Bobby Wright, Dean of Occupational Education, presented the candidates for graduation. Dr. Charles Hays, president of HC, and Dr. Charles Warren, chairman of the board of trustees, awarded diplomas. Charlie Bennett was valedictorian, Raymond Bedford was salutatorian and outstanding student was Laura Kissel. Inez Molina was alternate. Cheri Sparks coordinated the event.

Charlie Bennett was the Valedictorian of the group. He also received the Polly Hunt Memorial Award.

Laura Kissel received the outstanding student award.

Registration — The Thrill of It All!

Oh, yes — registration. The trying to get everything to fit and it not cooperating. First decide what you need to take, then find what you want to take, how many hours you have, will it work into your schedule and, enough free time left? If so, then take that slot. That way you'll have plenty of time to study — right? Right!

Upon arrival at the library, Jill Walker greets Bruce Campbell with "Take this packet into Conference Room 1, fill it out in pencil, don't make any errors, and . . ."

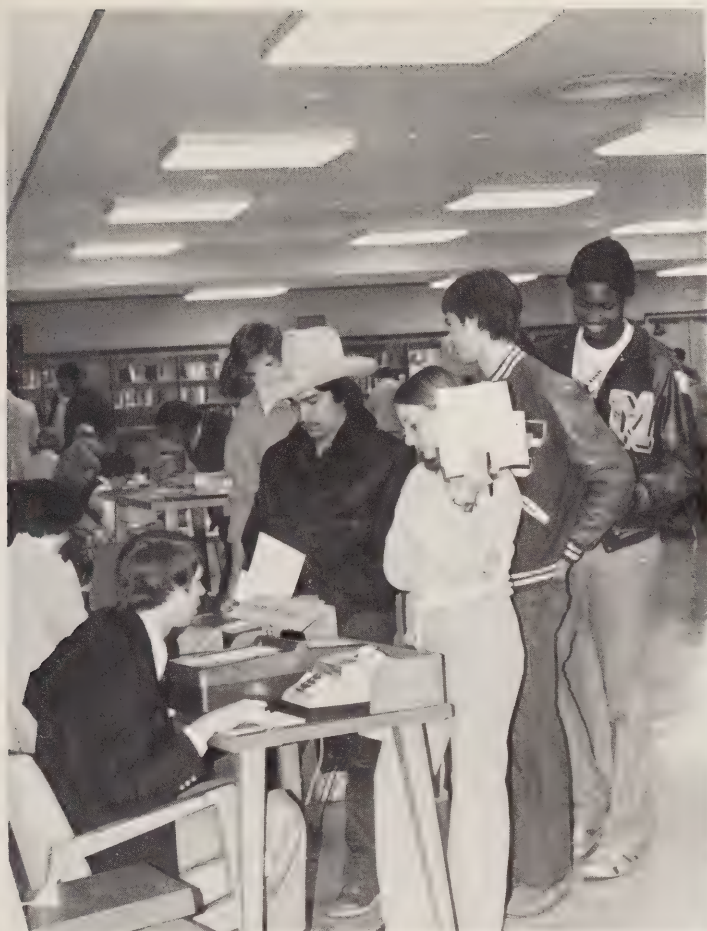

The financial aides table was kept busy.

Lines formed as schedules had been completed and the registrar then had to check it out.

Claudia Clancy always willing to give students a hand.

Registration tends to be a lot of paper work.

As the old saying goes — exercise will keep you fit and trim. Well, with all the activities offered around campus everyone can stay fit and trim. Intramurals are offered in all sorts of sports throughout the school year. It starts with football, foosball, pool, ping pong, and on to basketball.

A group of students also travelled to Hobbs, New Mexico, where they participated in an intramural day.

CHAMPIONS

Cheerleading — More Than Just a Word

When the word cheerleader is uttered, the vision of a young lady in a short skirt is conjured up and that is all that is thought about it. Not so. Behind the scenes are all of the long hours of practice to perfect cheers that sometimes still don't go perfect. And then, there's the hours of painting signs, and the effort of putting them up just to watch someone else tear them down.

Of course, there's the yelling until you can't yell anymore amid the few voices of support. Then, you have to stay cheerful for the team, even if they lose. You travel all over and get home at odd hours in various degrees of weather. You write and record radio spots in an effort to get larger crowds at the games. But, you do have fun.

Yes, cheerleaders wear short skirts, yell through megaphones, and stand in people's way during the games. But we do promote spirit, keep it going, and support the Hawks the best way that we know how.

Hawk Basketball

Hawks Are Dynamite!

And so another season of basketball passes carrying with it a ton of memories. The guys fought long and hard through illnesses and injuries and kept going. The conference was tough but the team gave its all.

There were some exciting moments in a number of games, but especially the New Mexico Military game here. The crowd was kept on its feet the entire second half. The Hawks were always good about keeping the games exciting until the end and left only a narrow margin between winner and loser.

Rodeo Teams Rank High in Region

The rodeo team is going to the top if they keep up the exceptional performance they have given thus far. The girls' team is ranked first in the region and the guys' team has a chance at first in their region also. The two teams travel all over, competing with both junior colleges and major universities. Teree Teague is rated first in Breakaway, Pam Mitchell is first in goat tying and Margo Powell is third in goat tying.

AMAS Enjoys — “Togetherness”

Amelia looks at the camera while the others act as if they don't know their picture is being taken.

AMAS or Association of Mexican American Students, is a very close group. The students all take their nationality seriously and join together because of it. The club has had a few raffles, including raffling off a giant box of Valentine's candy. The main purpose for the club though is to come closer together with one's friends and have a good time in the process.

Baptist Student Union — Growing Together

Baptist Student Union is a club of togetherness. Members meet weekly for business meetings, socials and sometimes have speakers. They mainly get together just to enjoy one another's company.

The club meets every Thursday at noon in the Tumbleweed room.

Officers: Patti Swindell — Secretary; Nancy Wood — Vice President; Lana Williams — Treasurer; Donny Croft — President.

Singers: Chuck Dickens, David Spence, Randle Jones, Ken Carney, Johnny Arguello, Charlie Nickle, and Mike Haurie.

Ken Sprinkle, director, holds Harlan Thornton's music as he accompanies the group.

Singers: Sue Johnson, Lynn Smith, Nancy Wood, Laurie Choate, Lana Williams, Patty Swindell, Kathy Lloyd, and Karen Hoyt.

Entertain You With Music

Steve Wilson adds to the talent by accompanying the choir on his drums.

A well known group of people from HC are the Choraliers. In 1973, Woody McDonnell started the HC Choraliers. In 1974, Ken Sprinkle became the new director and head of the college's fine arts division. Most of the members of the group are not music majors. Six of the eighteen are music and the others are scattered through business, education, science, math, and engineering.

The Choraliers travel all over performing for various schools and functions. Here they perform for the local Lion's Club.

Sprinkle and the 18 member group combine entertainment with serious musical training and a lot of hard work. A typical Choraliers repertoire includes classical, such as Bach or Beethoven, through pop or country. The style of the group changes with solos, duets, trios, and quartets. The Choraliers also travel extensively.

Representing the College Well

A new addition to the college this year are these eight college "classics." They travel the area with counselors and represent Howard College. The girls act as hostesses and give out information about the school when it is needed.

Sharla Jameson, Kathy Keune, Cathy Valdes, K'Lynn Boyer, Katy Brooks, Janie Rodriguez, Laurie Choate, and Jan Phillips.

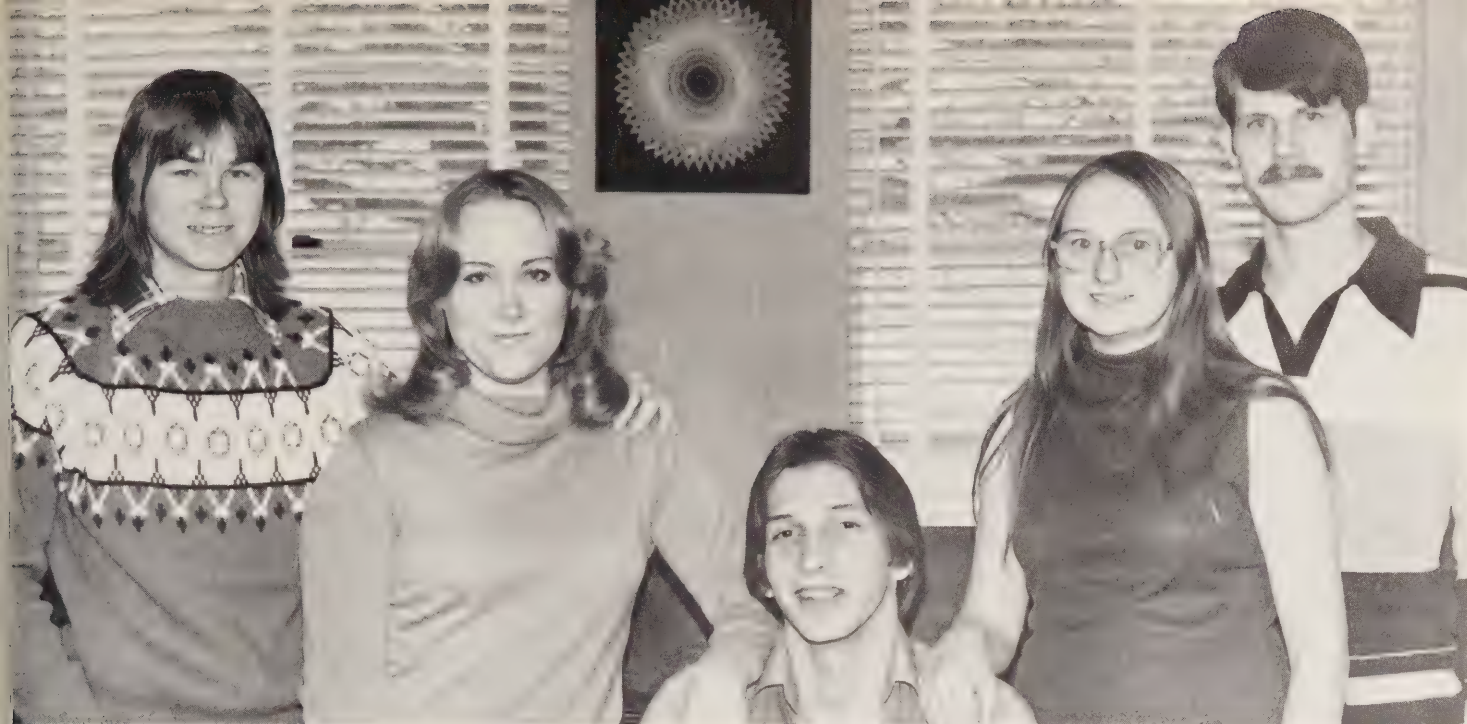

K'Lynn, Jan, Janie, Laurie, Kathy, and Katy enjoy the food at the President's annual Christmas dinner.

New Club Brings Music Appreciation

The Claviers, a new club on campus, was formed by a group of students in an effort to appreciate music and music learning more. The members perform for each other and enjoy the fellowship.

Future Secretaries

Officers: Janie Rodriguez — Vice-President; Laurie Snell — SGA Representative; Lupe Morales — President; Amelia Morales — Secretary/Treasurer.

The future secretaries congregate every first Wednesday of the month to carry out their business meetings. The club took part in the Halloween Carnival and carries on its own social gatherings.

Members: Rose Garcia, Mary Lou Saldivar, Diana Rodriguez, Sylvia Olivas.

Sponsor Doris Huibregtse.

Members: Loretta Torgerson, Jeff Torgerson, Debra Watkins, Beverly Tynes, David Morren.

Acting Is Not All They Do

The drama department kept plenty busy this year. They started out with a dinner theatre entitled "The Anniversary" and then went on to a one act play competition with "Monsters." The contest was held in March at a junior college near Houston.

Members: Ken Carney, Carrie Wheeler, Shane Brockman, Adriana Underhill, John Williams, Brian Sursky.

Director John Gordon.

Laurie Choate gets sick in one part of "Monsters."

President Rusty Mitchell enjoys his office especially with fellow officers like Laurie Choate, SC Rep., and Kitta Weinkauf, Sec./Treas.

Hawk Stars Shine on

A new club on campus this year was the Hawk Stars. They were the fan club for the basketball team. Unfortunately, the club had a number of problems in trying to get started. First their T-shirts didn't come in until January so they were never officially recognized as an organized group, and night classes presented a problem for constant attendance. The spirit was there, though, and that's what's really counted.

Probably the most spirited supporter of the Hawks was Wendy Waters, who came to every game possible.

Photographers — they're the people whose faces look just like cameras. Yes, photographers do spend a lot of time behind a camera and even more time in the dark room developing and printing pictures until they are just right. Without these dedicated people, such things as yearbooks would be non-existent. Thanks y'all.

Publications

To design and create any type of publication there must be cooperation, dedication, and a willingness to spend hours of work. The reader may not realize this and the road to success is not an easy journey. This year, the Hawk Flight staff consisted of Denise Crenwelge, Jill Walker, Kathy Keune, K'Lynn Boyer, Tammy Plew, Larry White, Mark Root, John Hamill, Carla Chrane, Belynda Campbell, Nick Reyna, and Mike Haurie.

Jill Walker (below) was a great help with the design and layout of the annual.

Carla Chrane, business manager, and her constant companion, the telephone.

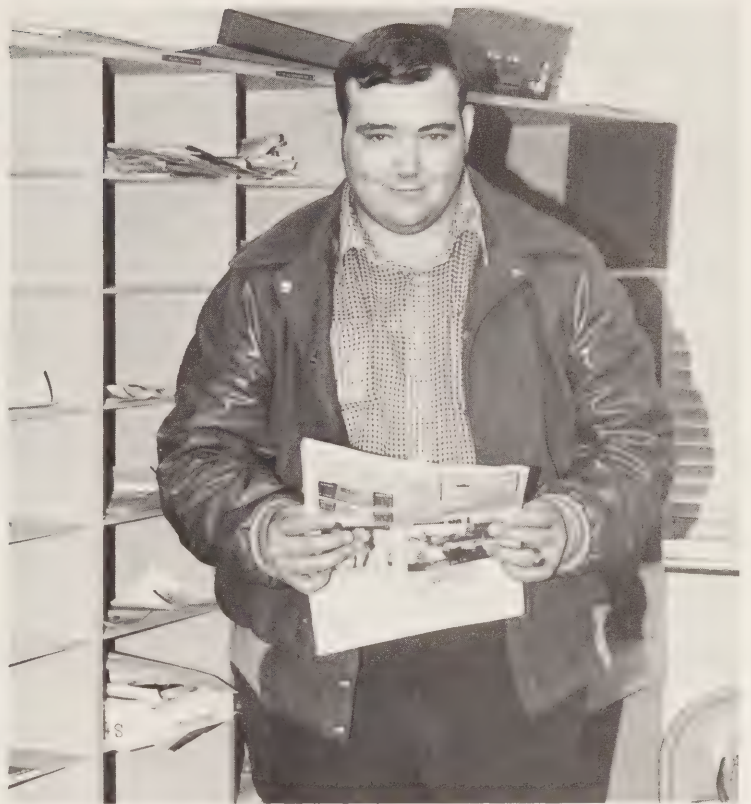

Denise Crenwelge, annual editor, chose to work at home on her annual layouts. Denise designed most of the layouts of this annual in an artistic fashion which helped to make this annual distinct and "the best ever."

Annual and el nido sponsor John Marder goes over new ideas with Denise while Mike Haurie looks on.

of Hard Work

"All right, who gave you permission to take MY picture?" asks El Nido editor Kim Hall.

Reporters Jim Craver, Vicky Johnson, and Jay Huskey.

Sports editor Mark Cook looks over his column to see "how good he did."

Reporters Rusty Mitchell, Jill Walker, Louis Smith and Denise Crenwelge look over their "great" works.

Press Club Earns Money

Yes, the Press Club. The first semester the club worked the concession stand at the basketball games and planned to take some sort of trip with their earnings. Where was undecided at the time of printing. Having fun was the main objective.

Kyle Neighbors, custodian, and Mike Haurie clean up after another night in the concession stand.

Officers: Nick Reyna — SGA Rep.; Denise Crenwelge — Vice-President; Mark Cook — President; Maria Garza, Secretary.

A few of the members — (L. to R.) Rusty Mitchell, Carla Chrane, Jill Walker, Louis Evans and Debbie Sansone.

Culture Appreciated Thru Spanish Club

Above: Joe Albert DeAnda and Nick Reyna talk about the art of dime throwing at the Halloween Carnival.

The Spanish Club was formed to study Spain's culture and history. To be eligible for membership one had to be a Spanish student. They had the dime toss at the annual Halloween Carnival and had a Christmas Banquet at La Posada.

La Posada was the site for the club's Christmas social.

On January 10, 1978, the capping ceremony for nursing students of the class of 1979 was held. This ritual signified that the students had successfully completed their first level of RN training. Female students received caps while male students received stripes. The capped students have completed 32 of the required 74 hours.

Donna Adams, Lorraine Agard, Elizabeth Arencibia, Selma Bailey, Brad Beach, Wanda Brewer, Brenda Burnes, Celestin Cisneros, Fran Franklin, Sharon Harbuck, Phyllis Hart, Mary Hulan, Carol Immel, Alonzo Landi, Lisa McCutchan, Bruce Byers, Shirley Nichols, Shirley Reynolds, Joann Sawyer, Yvette Seckler, Patricia Wright, Sandra Zinke.

Bruce Myers and Carol Emmel leave the stage after receiving their nursing bibles.

Alonzo Landin receives his stripe.

Below: Fran Franklin visits with a few of the friends and relatives attending the reception following the ceremony.

Club Encourages Student Writers

The Writer's Club, though small in size, is not so in importance. Members of the club appreciate great works and improve writing skills. The club is designed to encourage student writers and puts out a yearly newspaper called "Thissels." The club also sponsors the annual writing contest open to both high school and college students.

Members Jim Craver and Debra Mitchem.

Sponsor Susan King.

Alpha Mu Gamma Honors Deserving

Alpha Mu Gamma is an honor society for foreign language students. The requirements are that one maintain a high average for four consecutive semesters in a foreign language.

Mike Shankles proudly displays his diploma and pin.

Being number one is not easy to achieve and is doubly hard to maintain but the rodeo teams are doing just that. The girls are rated number one in the region and the group is within reach of number one. Good luck.

Who Really

Dr. Charles Hays, President of the college.

Members Dr. Charles Warren, Jimmy Taylor, and K. H. McGibbon look over some proposals before the meeting.

Harold Davis and Dr. P. W. Malone review the meeting's agenda. Dr. Malone is a charter member of the board, having served on it in various positions since its beginning.

Board members James Barr and Donald McKinney chat a few moments.

The board of trustees during their meeting.

Runs Howard College?

Leisurely lunch in the Cactus Room helps before getting down to business.

Who really runs Howard College? Well that could turn into a controversial question. The board, administration, and students all play important roles in the entire production. Of course the board of trustees would head the totem pole since they are the decision making body of the whole works. They decide about everything that goes on at the college. They are responsible for hiring, firing, remodeling, courses, discipline, and anything that arises. All the members serve because they are sincerely interested in running the college in the best possible way.

The Howard College Board of Trustees include: Dr. Charles Warren, chairman
Donald McKinney, vice chairman
Harold Davis, secretary
Jimmy Taylor, treasurer
Dr. P. W. Malone, charter member
James Barr

Keeping the College Going

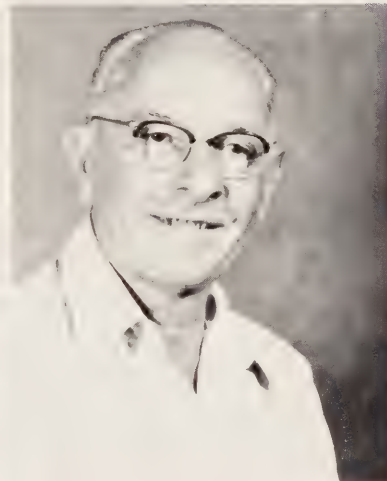

Just where would we be without the maintenance people? We seem to just take it for granted that the campus and buildings are always virtually spotless and quite attractive. But if we were to look behind the scenes we would find these hard working people striving to make Howard College a better place for everyone.

Jane Westfall, J. T. Broseh, Jerry Broseh, and J. R. Gould.

"If we flap our arms real fast we will be able to fly," Debbie Burks tells Lyn Garner.

Wow! College at last. The joys of being a freshman. What exactly is it like to be a freshman? Well it is getting lost at registration, worrying that you won't get the courses at the times you wanted, moving into dorms and meeting new people as the semester unfolds. It also carries a feeling of independence with it as we realize that we are more on our own now, making our decisions about life. That may mean skipping classes, working, staying out until too late, studying, or just having a real good time.

The 1978 Hawk annual reflects a considerable amount of time and effort by students with expertise in different areas. This annual would not exist if it were not for the coordination between individuals willing to give of their time and energy to present this comprehensive portrait of life at Howard College.

No annual could be published without competent photographers. Most of the color photography presented is the work of Tammy Plew. Tammy's color photography of the Tenth Annual Miss Howard College Pageant is of a superior quality which many professional photographers would find difficult to match. Tammy's photo of the flags was turned into the posterization or art conversion found on the cover of this annual.

In addition to Tammy, Larry White, Mark Root, and Nick Reyna did much of the photography throughout this annual. Larry and Nick also took photos at the beauty pageant. Larry took many of the action sports photos at the basketball games. His clear and sharp photography and knowledge of the game of basketball led to his photography being entered at the TIPA contest in Brownwood (results of that contest were unknown at press time).

Nick Reyna worked until 1:00 AM the night of the pageant developing film for a rush deadline. But Nick did not stop there. He spent several days developing and printing film during the Christmas Holidays. Mike Haurie and Kevin Crenwelge also helped with developing, printing, and photo taking. John Hamill helped in the darkroom.

Mark Root began work on the annual in January and quickly proved his abilities. Promoted to chief photographer of el nido, Mark has consistently worked long hours in the darkroom developing and printing photographs. In January and February Mark took many sports action photos and composed many of the group photographs of this annual.

As editor of the annual, Denise Crenwelge is also to be highly complimented on her creative ideas and her imaginative efforts. Denise worked long and difficult hours typing and rushing to meet deadlines. Jill Walker assisted Denise with layout and design work as did Kathy Keune and K'Lynn Boyer.

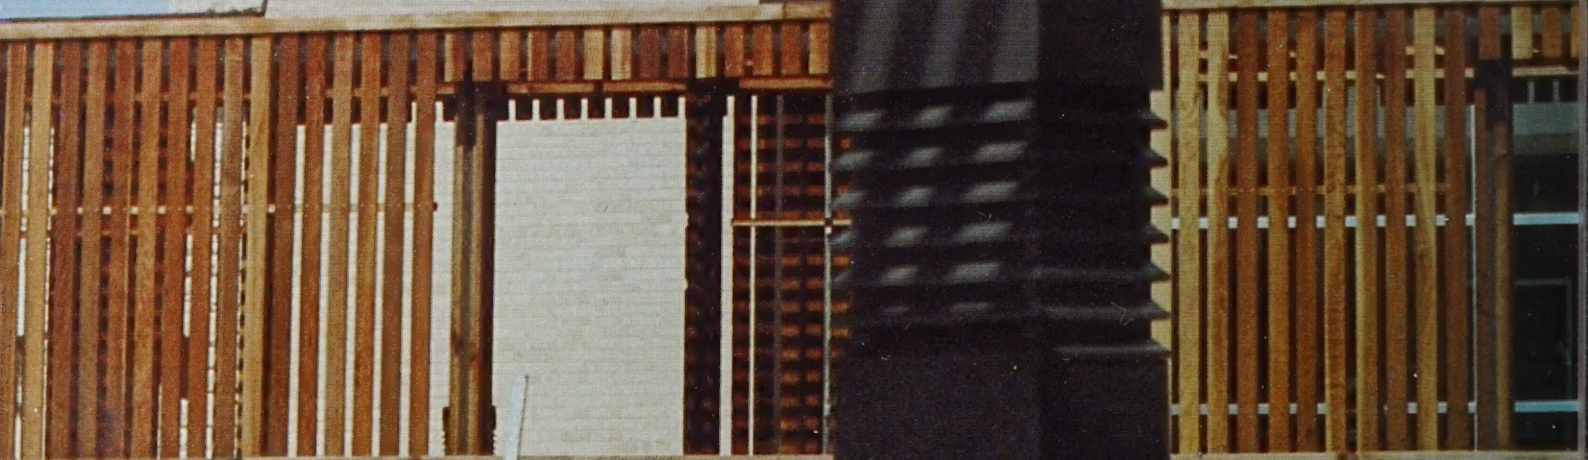

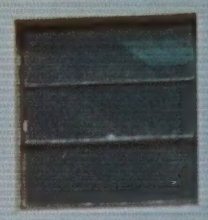

The advertising in this annual would not have been possible without Carla Chrane's enthusiasm and ability to convince businessmen of the worth of this annual. Together, Carla and Belynda Campbell deserve credit for the attractive and creative ads which reflect the strong support of the business community.

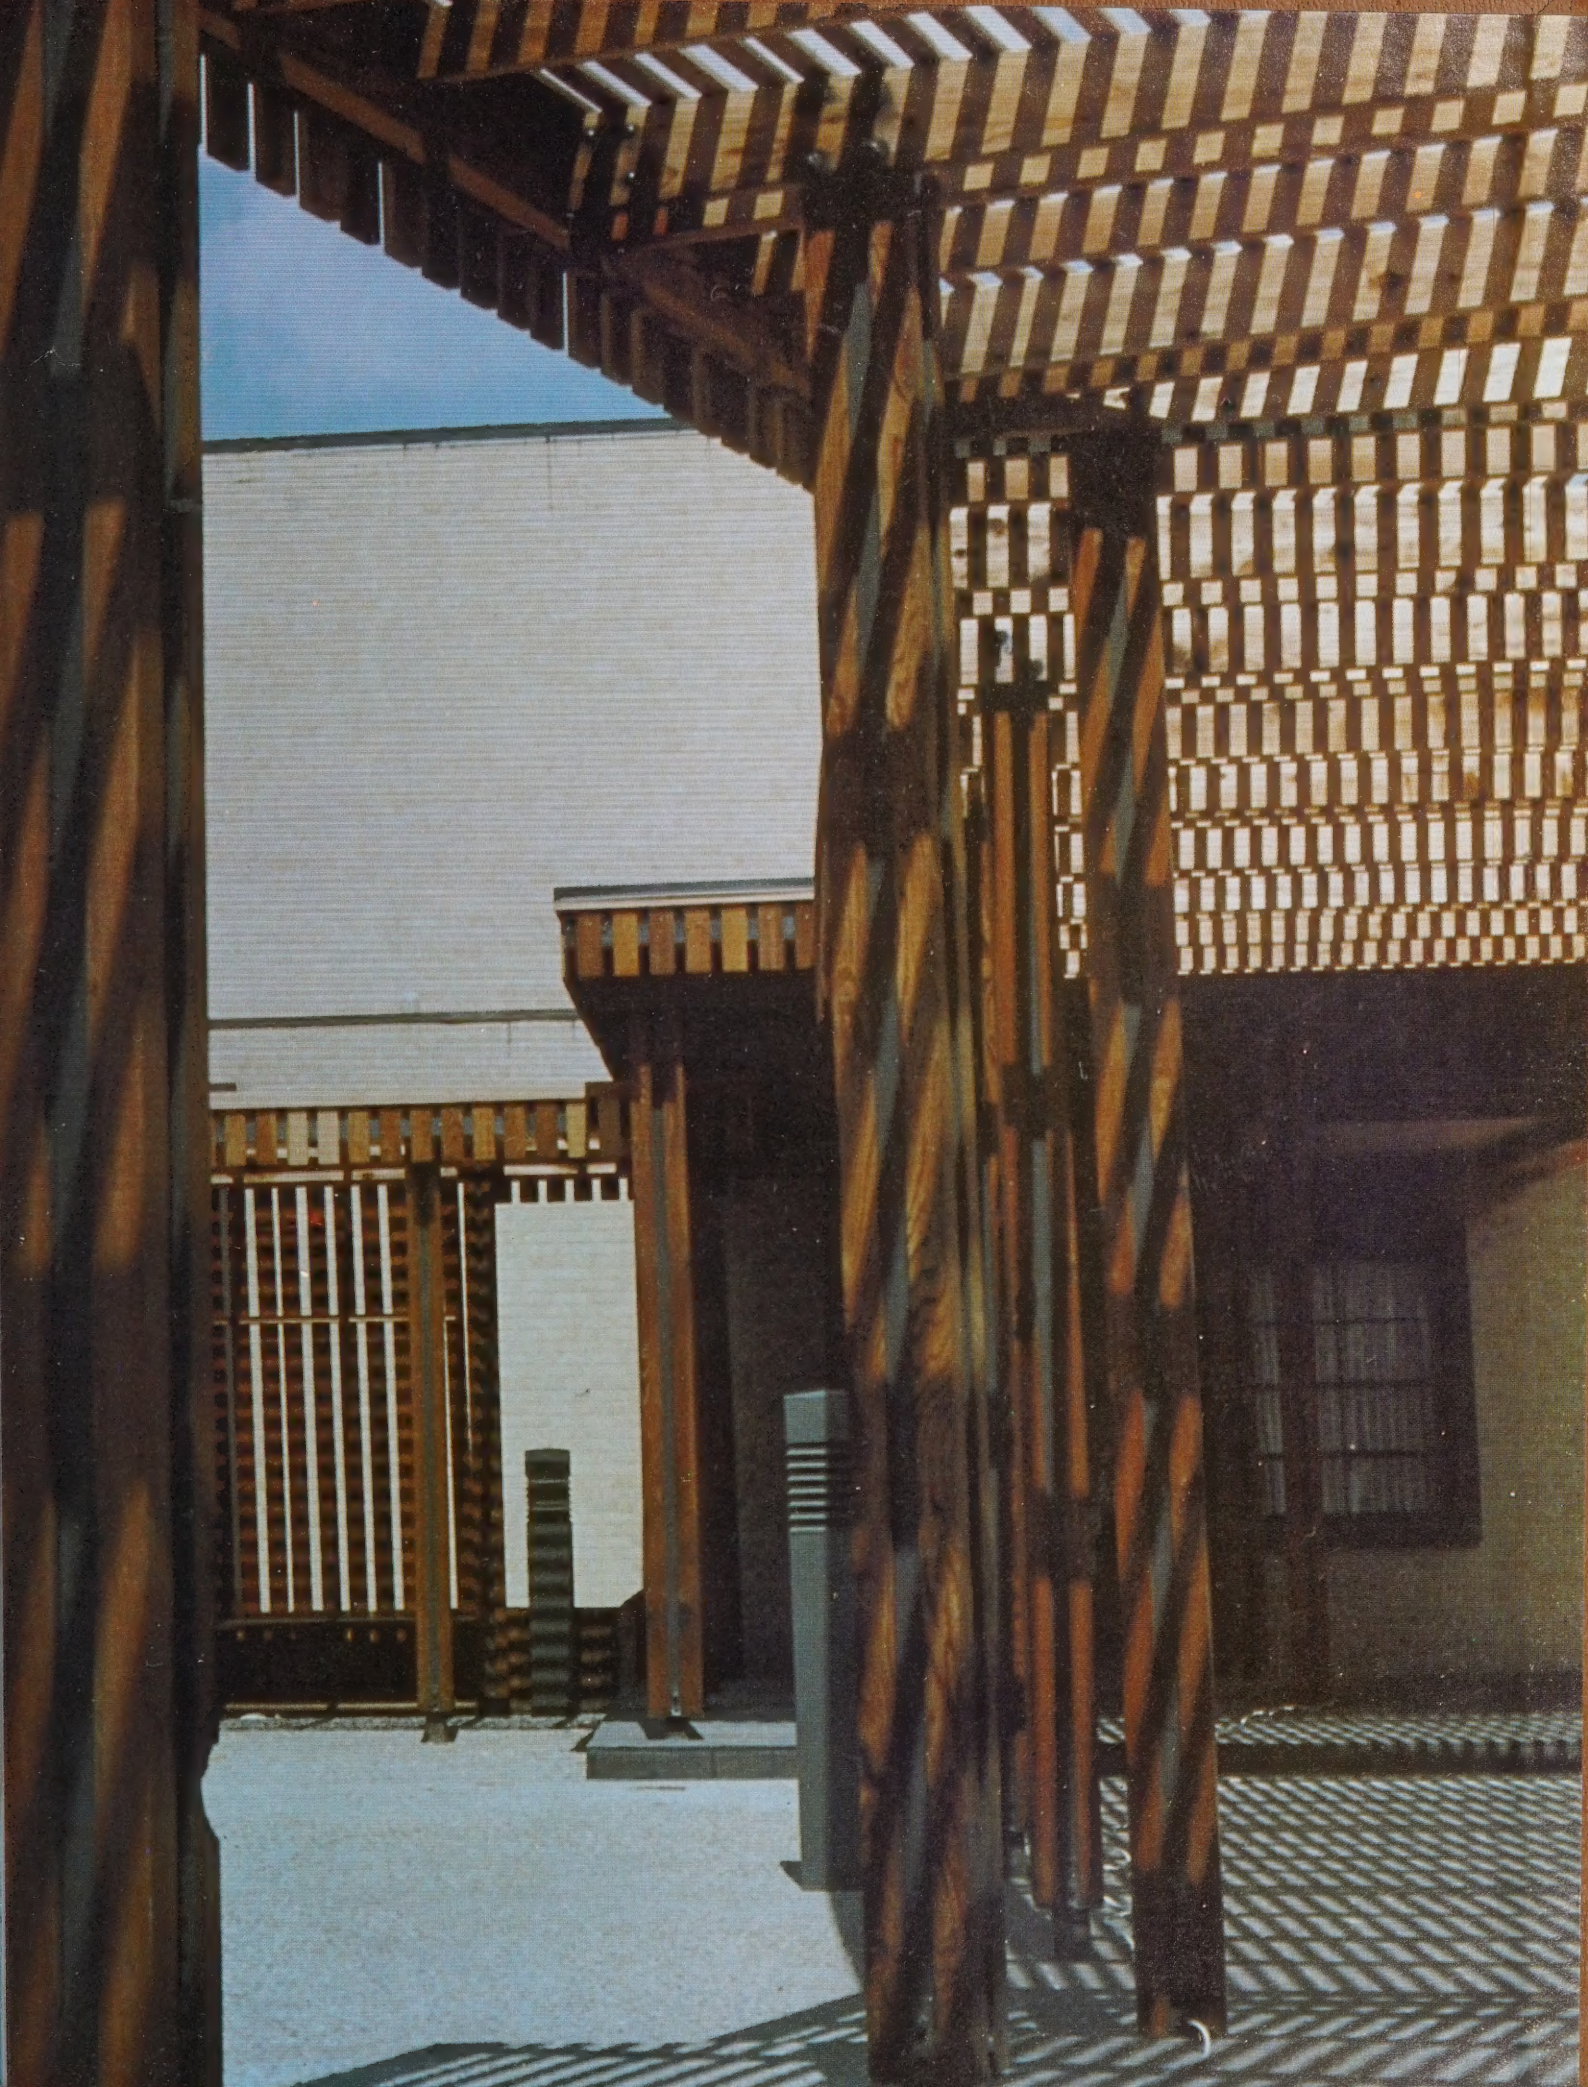

I have enjoyed working with all of these students. The cooperation given by the faculty, staff, students, and administration has helped to organize, in my opinion, the best annual Howard College has ever had. Let's continue to work together and provide everyone with a vibrant and responsive college growing and building for a better world tomorrow.
